

Dynamics GP Price Increase as of July 1, 2014

ARTICLE 04.27.14 DEAN DORTON

Have you been thinking about adding more users or new functionality to your current Microsoft Dynamics GP solution? Well, now is the time to buy!

Microsoft has just announced that they will be making some big changes to their pricing starting July 1st, 2014. Microsoft has decided to realign the Dynamics GP user prices across versions and licensing models effective July 1, 2014, resulting in a price increase for additional users you might need in the future. So, if you think that you will need more users in the next 6 to 12 months, there is no better time to buy those users than now.

How will this affect you?

If you are currently on Microsoft Dynamics GP 2013 and Microsoft Dynamics NAV 2013 the following price changes apply to you:

- 10% or MORE PRICE INCREASE. This change impacts customers that are on the Professional Modular licensing as well as the Starter Pack, the Extended Pack, all Client Access License types, and all modules available through the Perpetual Licensing model, except Microsoft SQL Server 2012 Standard Edition Runtime licenses.

BUY NOW and take advantage of the current Microsoft Dynamics Pricing before those user and module prices go up on July 1, 2014.

If you have NOT upgraded to Dynamics GP 2013 yet, price changes depend on which legacy pricing model you are on. To find out more about how you can save, please contact us via email or phone at 919-875-9635 extension 1.
