

Nonprofit Finance Directors – Two Online Events Just for You

ARTICLE 06.09.16 DEAN DORTON

The bedrock of accountability and transparency for nonprofits is financial health. In order to best manage the financial health of your organization the finance team and program managers need complete, accurate, timely reporting on the funds they manage.

We're kicking off the summer with two popular webcasts for nonprofit finance teams. We hope you'll join us for these webcasts that will share best practices, the power and significant cost savings that cloud-based software can offer nonprofits, and how other nonprofits have met the challenge of accountability and transparency.

Please be our guest for these complimentary online events and register today.

Survival Guide for Nonprofit Finance Teams

June 23, 2016 webcast 2:00e

Click here to register

The demands on nonprofit finance teams have continued to increase.

You must create greater levels of transparency and visibility, enhance the governance of the organization, and strengthen decision-making and strategic focus—all while improving productivity.

Wondering how you can survive in this challenging environment?

Attend this live webinar and product demonstration to learn how Intacct and the cloud can address the key challenges facing nonprofit finance teams.

Learn how Intacct enables nonprofits to:

- Support separate, balanced sets of books required for fund accounting
- Distribute responsibilities to contributors and managers
- Track general vs. restricted dollars, balance and close each fund or grant independently
- Take advantage of the cloud to eliminate IT costs and headaches

Financial Reporting – Is Your Nonprofit Seeing The Full Picture?

July 7, 2016 webcast 2:00e

Click here to register

As a nonprofit, you have many stakeholders who require accurate information on budgets, grants, outcomes, and more—and they need access to them at a moment's notice. But can your legacy accounting system keep up? Join us for this live webinar and product demonstration, to learn how cloud-based financials can help.

Learn how you can truly:

- Eliminate manual, Excel-based reporting
- Provide real-time, custom dashboards and reports for board members, stakeholders, and finance teams
- Enable anytime, anywhere access to financial information for geographically dispersed stakeholders
- Easily track, manage, and analyze grants, funds, budgets, expenses, and cash flows